Pumpkin 2: Hong Kong: Kowloon Walled City in Japan) is a puzzle-platformer developed and published by Singapore-based indie studio, Unbox Industries and is the sequel to the 2016 critically acclaimed Mr. Pumpkin. The game takes place in Hong Kong's Kowloon Walled City, a former British colony and the longest surviving example of the Walled City tradition in the world. The player controls a pumpkin-headed protagonist, who is exploring the area around the Kowloon Walled City, meeting the various residents and the challenges they will put in your way. Key Features of Mr. Pumpkin 2: Kowloon Walled City: - A spellbinding Walled City to be explored! - A new protagonist to care for and a new set of challenges to overcome! - A story that takes you into the heart of Hong Kong and experience its true heritage! - A unique "Unauthorised Hong Kong Film" experience. local studio based in Singapore, with a close relationship to the local Southeast Asian indie scene. With a passion for game development and love for film, Unbox has made its first title, Mr. Pumpkin, a critically acclaimed game which has been described as "an indie classic". In addition to its game, Unbox Industries is developing a narrative-focused film titled To the Depths of the Mountain with an Asian blockbuster style. The Walled City of Kowloon was a settlement in Hong Kong under British rule. It was both a hell and a utopia, formed by intertwined streets, aged buildings, dazzling neon lights and dark narrow alleys. In the game, you will travel through the Walled City by Hong Kong's traditional transport such as cable car, double-decker bus and tramway, from episode to episode, experiencing a Hong Kong version of the famous painting Along the River During the Qingming Festival. ## What's new in Mr. Pumpkin 2: Kowloon Walled City:

receives a new lord On 20 January 2012, the HKSAR Government transferred responsibility of the Old Kowloon Walled City to the City and District Council, with the assistance of the Housing Department, the Urban Council and the Environmental Protection Department. According to the HKSAR Government, the transfer was conducted mainly to address the governance structures and public service functions of the Walled City, rather than for its demolition. There were no amendments in 2012 or 2013 to the Resource Legislation. Accordingly, the Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP) and the Emergency Services Plan (ESP) of the Walled City were also transferred. In June 2014, the City and District Council (C&D) published a plan to resell seized residential properties in the area, and sign contracts with tenants for their management if they wish to be reoccupied. The gap period for new resettlement units in central Kowloon would be lowered from 5 to 3 years. Besides, C&D would waive the remaining cost for registering as the landlord and implementing procedures as required by law. According to the plan, between January and June 2014, 2,236 properties in the Walled City area, including 49 market 1-phase and 108 market 2-phase properties, were auctioned, attracting over HK$4 billion (USD 505 million). The winning bidders later moved into newly built two-bedroom rental flats in the Walled City. While public housing residents were resettled, commercial and service providers such as hotels and restaurants came in. On 17 October 2015, the 10th round of lease expiration collocation was conducted, resulting in about 2,280 eligible tenants and about 7,600 new flats coming into the Walled City. Background The old Kowloon Walled City was established on the former Yau Ma Tei Estate within the Kowloon Walled City in the 1990s. The underground wall was nearly 3km in length and positioned in such a manner to prevent the city's residents from leaving the area, and encased Yau Ma Tei Plaza, as well as the University of Hong Kong (HKU) and the Hong Kong Polytechnic University (PolyU). During British colonialism, Hong Kong was a part of the British Empire and under the British administration from 1840 to 1997. In 1997, Hong Kong reverted to China and became an
